

Summative Evaluation

The overall portfolio process has been beneficial in many ways. First of all, it allowed me to use HTML coding skills that I do not use regularly. It also allowed me to see where I started and how I progressed throughout my five semesters in this program. I feel that I grew, but I also feel that I faltered a bit. I can tell that the quality of my work did not improve as much as I would have liked it to beginning in the Spring of 2016. This is when I started working full time for the first time in three years. I was also taking nine credit hours, with three of those credit hours being a group consulting project class, EDTC 6040. I wish I could have dug deeper in the material and really synthesized it more.

There were not many obstacles for me in completing my portfolio. The only obstacle was completing the reflection papers. In my personal experience, there was not much information presented up front about the portfolio process. If I were able to do this differently, I would have written the reflection papers immediately after completing the respective projects. However, I feel that by waiting to complete the reflection papers toward the end of my time in this program, I was better able to reflect upon the assignments and provide more feedback in my reflective statements.
